Ben Wilson, Interim CEO

Meet Huntingfield builders at Open Day

Prospective home buyers are invited to meet participating builders delivering pre-designed, house and land packages at the Huntingfield subdivision tomorrow, Saturday, 21 February 2026, 10 am – 12 noon.

Interim CEO, Ben Wilson said Podmatrix, Buildwise, Cunic Homes, Ronald Young & Co, and Wilson Homes would be on site to showcase their thoughtfully designed home options and answer questions.

“A third of the lots in our first release are already under offer and we want to encourage anyone thinking about buying at Huntingfield to take this opportunity to find out more and secure their own lot,” Mr Wilson said.

“Huntingfield is a beautiful place to live, where you can enjoy stunning views out to the North West Bay and up to Kunanyi/Mount Wellington, only a few minutes from beaches and recreational areas and around 20 minutes into the CBD.”

Mr Wilson said that twenty-two lots were still available for sale with over twenty-four house designs available across the first release of lots.

“The pre-approved designed home options have been tailored to the different lot types and buyers’ lifestyle needs; from first-home buyers to downsizers and growing families,” Mr Wilson said.

“The house designs also meet standards developed to ensure Huntingfield remains a high-quality housing development.”

Approved lender, Bank of us, will also be onsite to answer questions about the MyHome shared equity program to help prospective buyers make their dream of home ownership a reality with as little as two per cent deposit.

“About half the properties already under offer are MyHome customers which means there are affordable opportunities in the mix,” Mr Wilson said.

The next tranche of lots will be available for sale later in the year and will include a mix of land-only lots and house-and-land packages, giving buyers flexibility in how they choose to build their future home.
